

LABOUR MARKET INFORMATION

What is it and why is it important?

When looking at your future career you need to also be aware that some job roles are declining and others are growing! Each year this can change so to help you plan for your future you can compare jobs that you are interested in now and see if they are expected to grow or decline in popularity, or even need, in the future. Always better to be aware of what is ahead of you. There might even be a job that you did not even know existed!
